

Ethical/Legal Implications of Biospecimen Banking and Genetic Research

Sponsored by Meriter IRB

Learning Objectives

At the conclusion of the conference participants should be able to . . .

- Describe the primary requirements of federal regulations and guidance governing research on biospecimens and biospecimen banking.
- Identify elements that are necessary in an IRB application for biospecimen research to ensure compliance with regulations and good clinical practice.
- Recognize the ethical issues and potential increased risks of genetic research/banking of DNA.

Presenter: Lisa Wilson, JD

- Audience:
- Institutional Review Board (IRB) Members
 - IRB Staff
 - Researchers
 - Physicians, nurses, allied health scientists

Where: McConnell Hall, Classroom 9
Across Brooks St. from Meriter Hospital's main entrance.

When: Date: October 13, 2010
Program: 7:30 – 9:00 a.m.
Continental Breakfast Served: 7:15 a.m.

Three Ways to Register:

1 Online: meriter.com/irb
Click the IRB Seminar Registration link on this page.

2 By Mail: Return your completed registration form to:
Meriter Hospital
Continuing Professional Development Office
202 South Park Street
Madison, WI 53715

3 By Fax: Fax your completed registration form to (608) 417-5946.

Research and Special Populations – Registration Form

Registration Deadline: Friday, October 8, 2010

Name: _____

Title/Credentials: _____

Phone: _____

Email: _____

- IRB Member Physician Nurse
 IRB Staff Other

For additional information contact the Office of Continuing Professional Development at 608-417-6386, fax 608-417-5801, or email jhart@meriter.com

Attendance fulfills the Meriter IRB requirement for Human Subject Training every three years. This course is approved for 1.5 CME credits.

Speaker:

Lisa Wilson, JD is University Legal Counsel in the Office of Administrative Legal Services with the University of Wisconsin-Madison. She practices in the areas of physician risk management and medical malpractice; general health law; conflicts of interest; sponsored research; human subjects research; and stem cell research. She is the legal advisor to the University's four Institutional Review Boards that review human subjects protocols, and to the Conflict of Interest Committee and the Stem Cell Research Oversight Committee. Ms. Wilson received a B.A. in English from UW-Milwaukee in 1993 and a J.D., summa cum laude, from Northern Illinois University College of Law in 1999.

Statement of Need

More and more protocols focus on biospecimen study or have a biospecimen sub-study. This cuts across a range of medical specialties involved in research. Specimen banking and research has become a hot topic for many institutions engaged in biomedical research. At the request of the Meriter IRB members, this seminar was planned to improve the knowledge of those reviewing, approving and conducting human subjects research at Meriter.

Elements of Competence

This activity has been designed to change professionalism, one of the six competencies embraced by the American Board of Medical Specialties.

CREDIT

Attendance fulfills the Meriter IRB requirement for Human Subject Training every three years.

STATEMENT OF ACCREDITATION

Meriter Hospital is accredited by the Wisconsin Medical Society to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

CREDIT DESIGNATION STATEMENT

Meriter Hospital designates this educational activity for a maximum of 1.5 AMA PRA Category Credits™. Physicians should only claim credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.

POLICY OF DISCLOSURE

It is the policy of Meriter Hospital that the faculty, planners, and other persons who may influence content of this CME activity disclose all relevant financial relationships with commercial interests in order to allow CME staff to identify and resolve any potential conflicts of interest. Faculty must also disclose any planned discussion of unlabeled/unapproved uses of drugs or devices during their presentation(s). Detailed disclosures will be made at the activity.

In accordance with the Americans with Disabilities Act, Meriter Hospital seeks to make this conference accessible to all. If you have a disability, which might require special accommodations, please email Joyce Hart at jhart@meriter.com or call (608) 417-6386.

Sponsored by the Meriter Institutional Review Board